1.0 Course Description

This course provides an introduction to the multidimensional processes of grant-seeking and the strategic principles of writing proposals for venture support. From the perspective of both grant seekers and multidisciplinary peer-review audiences, students will learn how to identify and target funding sources/opportunities, translate project goals and problem statements into clear objectives and hypotheses, and coordinate activities to plan, develop, structure, and articulate feasible and conceptually innovative proposals.

Weekly Contact: Lecture: 2 hrs. Lab: 1 hr. 1 credit

Prerequisites: CMN313 or CMN323 and only available to Professional Communication and Creative Industries students

2.0 Course Objectives/Learning Outcomes

For undergraduate students, this course aims to

- Introduce concepts, genre system knowledge, practices and strategies of effective grantsmanship and donor-centred fundraising communication and stewardship
- Develop students’ capacities to research prospects and target funding sources and develop problem-based cases for support and feasible, goal-driven proposals for multiple sectors
- Identify current and emerging trends to plan, execute and manage multi-modal communication products for fundraising campaigns, planned giving, and entrepreneurial fundraising
- Apply rhetorical principles and approaches in critical analysis of grants and fundraising discourse
- Assist students in identifying and interrogating central issues in philanthropy, giving behavior, and underlying social, political and ethical implications of grant writing and fundraising activities
Additionally, graduate students will be able to
- Demonstrate knowledge of the literature in grant proposal writing and nonprofit fundraising
- Coordinate team-based fundraising campaigns
- Analyze grant writing and fundraising communications through theoretical lenses drawn from a variety of fields such as rhetoric, media studies, and visual communication

6.2 Print and Digital Copying Guidelines

Ryerson University complies with Canada’s Copyright Act which protects both creators/owners and users of copyrighted materials. Students should familiarize themselves with Ryerson's Copyright policies and procedures, and contact the Copyright and Scholarly Engagement Librarian at copyrt@ryerson.ca for questions, concerns and clarification of the copyright rules.
6.3 Turnitin.com

By taking this course, students agree that all required papers may be subject to submission for textual similarity review to Turnitin.com for the detection of plagiarism. All submitted papers will be included as source documents in the Turnitin.com reference database solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of such papers. Use of the Turnitin.com service is subject to the terms of use agreement posted on the Turnitin.com site. Students who do not want their work submitted to this plagiarism detection service must, by the end of the second week of class, consult with the instructor to make alternative arrangements.

Please note the following from Policy 145 Course Management Policy:

4.3.1.2 Even when an instructor has not indicated that a plagiarism detection service will be used, or when a student has opted out of the plagiarism detection service, if instructor has reason to suspect that an individual piece of work has been plagiarized, the instructor is permitted to submit that work in a non-identifying way to any plagiarism detection service.

6.4 Electronic Communication

Ryerson requires that any official or formal electronic communication from students be sent from their official Ryerson e-mail accounts.

6.5 Video and Audio Recording

No video or audio recording is permitted in class without the express permission of the instructor.
